

CSE2130 CRT

1. The data in memory cannot be called a file which is because memory cannot be a persistent medium.

2. `import java.io.*;`

3. The “\” variable should be “\\”

4. a) The try-catch-finally statement can be used
b) try {

```
System.out.println("The new file has been made.");
    } catch (IOException e) {
        System.out.println("The file couldn't be made.");
        System.err.println("IOException: " + e.getMessage());

    }
```

5. a) The name of the stream for displaying error messages is the err stream
b) They are displayed on your screen in code